PORTUGAL NOW IN THE HANDS OF THE REBELS

Revolutionists Succeed in Overthrowing the Government and Republic Will Replace the Monarchy

DOUBT AS TO KING'S SAFETY

He is Either a Prisoner or a Refugee On Brazilian or English Warship—Royal Troops Desert Young Ruler Today.

London, Oct. 5.—The Portuguese consulate is without official information from Lisbon. An official of the consulate said candidly the news of the revolution was not unexpected. For a long time he said the Republicans have been greatly dissatisfied with the condition of affairs, mainly because they had concluded from the progress made by Brazil, that progress could be made in Portugal only under a Republican form of government. The Portuguese minister today had a long conference with Foreign Secretary Grey.

Intense Interest in Rome.
Rome, Oct. 5.—Interest here over the situation in Portugal is intense, especially as the Queen Dowager, Marie Pia, of Portugal, is the aunt of the Italian King, while the Vatican is anxious over the religious situation and the possible effect it may produce in Spain.

Doubt About King Manuel.
Paris, Oct. 5.—One report concerning King Manuel says he is a prisoner in the palace, another that he is a refugee on an English warship and the third that he is aboard a Brazilian battleship carrying President-elect Fonseca of Brazil.

The Brazilian president must have witnessed scenes similar to those of 1892 in Brazil when Portuguese empire in that country was overthrown, the imperial family forced to leave Brazil, and a provisional government under Fonseca, father of the present president-elect established.

Fonseca received a great ovation when he arrived at Lisbon. A regiment of infantry escorted him to Belem palace, from the balcony of which he addressed a great crowd, felicitating the Portuguese people as "the saviors from which sprung my fatherland and the Brazilian nation." The crowd cried, "Long live the Republic of Brazil."

Sunday last, Manuel officially visited Fonseca on the Brazilian battleship Sao Paulo.

It is believed the immediate cause of the revolution in Portugal was the assassination in the capital of Prof. Bombarda, a Republican deputy and chief of the Liberal league, by a lieutenant of the army. So intense was the feeling against the throne that this incident, comparatively trivial in itself, was sufficient to start the outbreak.

Republicans Are Powerful.

The Republican movement, which found inspiration in the assassination of King Carlos and Crown Prince Luiz Philippi on February 1, 1908, has grown in strength steadily, and the elections of last August added materially to the Republican membership in the chamber, where the Republican quota has trebled during the last three years.

In districts where the Republicans failed of carrying the elections their vote showed a marked increase. When the new Cortes assembled the government saw the danger of the Liberal cabinet being overthrown, and on September 26 parliament was adjourned until December 12 in order to keep absolute power in the hands of cabinet and tide over troublesome period, but more particularly because the government realized that its majority was too small to withstand the attack from the coalition forces.

The whole Liberal press applauded the government's action in expelling the friars and confiscating the convents and monasteries and other valuable properties.

Dr. Alpoim, leader of the dissenting progressists and former minister of justice and worship, who told the king that if he enforced reforms, both political and financial, on the same lines as had Premier Canalejas of Spain the monarchy was doomed and a republic assured, declares his majesty answered that he would do his best to rule the country in a liberal spirit.

Alpoim added: "The King is wise and of a humane disposition, but he is badly advised by the clerical clique at the palace."

"The government has been aware that large stores of arms and ammunition and bombs were kept in Lisbon and other chief towns of the country but all efforts to discover their hiding places were fruitless. The greater part of the army and navy are avowedly Republican, and a great number of Liberals had declared if a military cabinet was formed that they would join the ranks of the Republicans."

Notwithstanding the liberal government's promises of reforms and

CENTER OF WEST POINT REBELLION.

Major General Barry, superintendent of the West Point academy, who has returned from Washington to give the situation his personal charge.

West Point, Oct. 5.—The open rebellion manifested by the first class men at the West Point Military Academy will require the most careful attention of the officers in charge. Major General Barry, superintendent of the academy, has returned from Washington to take personal charge of the situation, which may result in the court martialing of the entire class.

The trouble arose over the dislike of the students for Captain Rufus E. Longan, tactical instructor. This was evidenced by the students in what is known as "silence." That is, the entire student body at mass had refused Saturday and Sunday to eat and maintained absolute silence throughout the meal, not communicating even by whisper with one another.

PROMINENT ARCHITECT TO LOCATE IN ZENITH CITY

Architect F. W. Hessemmueller of Calumet leaves this evening for Duluth where he expects to locate. Mr. Hessemmueller's reason for making the change is that he feels Duluth offers a broader opportunity for his work than the copper country. Mr. Hessemmueller has been a resident of Calumet for the past three years during which time he has made a host of friends who will regret his departure, but who wish him every success in his new field.

He has been prominently identified with the activities of the Calumet lodge of Elks during his residence in this city and a live "booster" for Calumet, at all times. He expects to return on Oct. 19, to attend the ceremonies marking the dedication of the temple, and will visit Calumet at intervals in the future.

Among the most prominent buildings in the copper country which have been designed by Mr. Hessemmueller are the following: Tumbull building, Red Jacket; First National bank, Laurium; First National bank, Houghton; Hickok residence, Hancock; Kirby store, Red Jacket; Lake Superior Produce building, Red Jacket; Calumet News building, Red Jacket; H. Trilindig's residence, Houghton; Fovargue residence, Houghton; Charles Ulrich residence, Houghton; St. Anne's parsonage, Calumet; South Shore depot, Calumet; P. H. O'Brien's residence, Laurium; Jaques Godfrey residence, Laurium; John Verlin, two residences, Red Jacket; and the Elks' temple, Calumet.

FUNERAL OF MRS. GLASSON.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Glasson, of Sixth street, will take place tomorrow afternoon, leaving the family residence at 2 o'clock, for the Red Jacket Congregational church, where the services will be held. Rev. Mandus Barrett will officiate. Interment will be in Lake View cemetery. Members of the Royal Neighbors' society, of which the deceased was a member, will attend in a body.

The recent decree of amnesty toward offenders as well as efforts to the settle clerical problem, the Republicans claimed the Progressists cabinet really was reactionary and allied with the court party, which in turn, it was insisted, was dominated by clerical influences. The king's creation of additional peers was regarded as a reactionary move.

More Troops Desert King.

Lisbon, Oct. 5.—At 8 o'clock this morning troops faithful to the government, who had been assembled in the place Dom Pedro made common cause with the revolutionists and returned to their barracks. A multitude in the streets applauded the desertion, crying "Long live the Republic."

British Cruisers to Lisbon.

Gibraltar, Oct. 5.—The British cruisers New Castle and Minerva sailed today steaming full speed for Lisbon.

SAYS WRECK WAS CAUSED BY MOTORMAN

Dispatcher Blames One of Men in Charge of Cars for Disaster on the Traction Line at Staunton, Ill.

36 ARE DEAD AND 37 HURT

Authorities are Endeavoring to Place the Responsibility for Collision—Motorman and Conductor are Arrested.

Staunton, Ill., Oct. 5.—Both the corner of Macoupin county and the railroad and warehouse commissioner are today endeavoring to place the responsibility for the disaster on the Illinois Traction company's road, the disaster which snuffed out thirty-six lives and injured thirty-one others at Dickerson Curve, two miles and a half north of here late yesterday afternoon.

That Motorman Liermann, of local No. 14, north bound, ran wild despite orders to meet the limited section of No. 75, southbound, at Wall, is the charge made by Dispatcher Tebbe of Staunton. The police are searching for Liermann.

The task of removing the debris consumed the greater part of the night. In addition to the names of the dead given out last night, are Edward C. Hill, of Belleville, Illinois; Frank Ruble, of O'Fallon, Illinois; Mrs. F. W. Reed, of Peoria, Illinois; Miss Beatrice Seninger, and Miss B. Swanden, of Springfield, Illinois. Three women and three men unidentified.

To the list of injured there have been added: W. V. Duncan, Springfield, conductor of south-bound car; Durt Edwards, Mount Olive, Illinois, may die; Julius Engelman and wife, of O'Fallon, Illinois; Miss Lena Harney, East St. Louis, Illinois; Charles P. Miller, of Springfield, Illinois; and Edward White, Decatur, Illinois.

Trainmen Are Arrested.
Staunton, Ill., Oct. 5.—Motorman Liermann and Conductor Leonard, in charge of train No. 14, were arrested at their homes this morning, taken to Carlinville and held for the coroner's inquest. The company officials accuse them of over-running the point of meeting of the other train.

Awful Scene at Wreck.

Conductor Wilkinson, in charge of the first relief train to reach the scene of the wreck, said: "I saw legs, arms and heads of bodies protruding from every conceivable place."

"People in the wreckage were crying piteously and while we did all we could to rescue them, there were so many that our efforts seemed of no avail. People were crushed between the floors of the cars and wedged in so tightly we could not rescue them until we got jackscrows and lifted the car."

The majority of those killed were men in the smoking compartments and women riding in the front seats of the two cars. Several persons riding in the rear seats of the two cars were uninjured.

Prominent Iowa Victim.

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 5.—James W. Miller, of Gillespie, Illinois, one of the victims of the wreck near Staunton, Illinois, was for nine years an Iowa state mine inspector. Miller was well known in political and labor circles in Iowa.

DIRECTORS ARE SUED.

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 5.—A new and rather unexpected development came to light yesterday in the litigation subsequent to the failure of the First National bank of Ironwood, when the receiver, P. Tillinghast, began suit in United States court against the directors of the defunct banking institution, asking judgment for approximately $205,000, claimed to be due because of the alleged negligence and carelessness of the directors in their supervision of the business operations of the bank. Each of the directors is sued individually and collectively, the following being named as defendants: C. E. Tenderstrom, James Devoy, C. E. Houk, Elven T. Larson and Chester G. Rogers, as administrators of the estate of Herman F. Jahn, deceased. Suit against another director, Chas. R. Clark, of Hurley, Wis., had been started in the United States court at Madison, Wis.

In the bill of complaint, the receiver avers that the directors by reason of their failure to direct the affairs and management of the bank, are liable for the amount of Larson's and Jahn's defalcations, for the amount lost by the bank officers having given the so-called accommodation notes, and for the amount received in dividends since June 27, 1906, up to the time of the failure in June, 1909, in all amounting to practically $205,000. Mr. Tillinghast states that in case his contentions are sustained by the court, that each of the directors will be liable for the entire amount.

MAY BE COMMISSIONER OF NEW YORK'S POLICE.

RAYMOND B. FOSDICK.

New York, Oct. 5.—In the mix-up over police authority in this city there is a good chance of there being a change in the head of the police department. Among those suggested for the new head, should there be a change, is Raymond B. Fosdick. He is a young man of strong anti-vice tendencies.

FEDERAL COURT SESSION SHORT

ONLY ONE CRIMINAL CASE SLATED TO BE TRIED AND CIVIL BUSINESS IS VERY LIGHT.

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 5.—United States court opened on schedule time yesterday forenoon and the business of the term is now in full swing. The grand jury is in secret session all day and will convene again this morning. It is expected that a report will be made some time today, though their work may not be completed until tomorrow. Quite a number of witnesses have been called into the jury room, and several cases are evidently being investigated.

When the calendar was called by Judge Denison, most of the cases were reported as settled or not ready for trial and the term promises to be of short duration. The chances are that but one criminal trial will take place at this term, that of the United States against J. H. Worden, F. F. Duell and Alex. J. Peterson, charged with having conspired to defraud the government out of timber land in Chippewa county. This case was tried at the June term, but the jury was unable to agree on a verdict. Mr. Duell, one of the defendants, was unable to get to Marquette yesterday, and accordingly, this case was postponed until tomorrow morning. A civil case will be taken up before the jury today, that of Emanuel Metz against Charles Darcy.

All but two of the long list of Ironwood bank cases on the calendar were reported as settled. One of these, that of John Brennan against the First National bank, will be taken up Monday. The other consists merely in awarding a judgment against Ex-Cashier E. T. Larson in favor of the bank, Larson now being imprisoned in the Detroit House of Correction. Two important Ironwood bank cases are likely to be heard at the next term of United States court, the suit brought by the receiver against the directors of the bank, and that brought by the receiver against E. D. Nelson, former president of the bank, to recover a large sum of money. A demurrer was submitted by the defendant in this case at the June term, which Judge Denison has not yet ruled upon.

CONSECRATION CEREMONIES BEGIN TODAY

Three Cardinals Take Part in Imposing Ceremony at the St. Patrick's Cathedral New York

THOUSANDS IN ATTENDANCE

Estimated That Nearly 20,000 People Were Crowded Into Spacious Edifice at Opening of Three Days Program.

New York, Oct. 5.—With princes of the church, bishops, monsignori and scores of priests as active participants or interested spectators in the impressive ceremonies of a solemn pontifical mass, of which Cardinal Gibbons was the celebrant, the three days' ceremonies attending the consecration of St. Patrick's Cathedral began this morning.

The ceremonies brought together an assemblage of prelates of the Church only a little less notable than that which marked the sessions of the recent Eucharistic Congress in Montreal. Heading the list of participants were Cardinal Vannutelli, Papal Legate; Cardinal Logue, Primate of Ireland, and Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore. Among the many other distinguished prelates were Archbishop Farley of New York, O'Connell of Boston, Ryan of Philadelphia, Glennon of St. Louis and numerous bishops from various parts of the United States and Canada.

Consecration at 6 o'clock.

The ceremonies began with the consecration at 6 o'clock this morning. One thousand persons composed the procession, which moved around the great cathedral before taking part in the solemn service. The procession was headed by acolytes, choristers and the diocesan clergy, who are followed by the monsignori, bishops, archbishops and cardinals, all clad in the gorgeous vestments of their respective offices. The officers of the mass brought up the rear, headed by the archiepiscopal cross bearer.

A detail of one hundred police was required to keep in check the enormous crowds that congregated in the vicinity of the cathedral almost at dawn of day, anxious to obtain at least a glimpse of the eminent participants in the ceremonies, even though deprived of the opportunity to witness the ceremony itself. St. Patrick's has a seating capacity of 15,000, but it is estimated that nearly 20,000 persons were crowded into the spacious edifice, being admitted only by ticket. In the congregation were many specially invited civil officers, members of the vestries of the local churches, officers of Catholic societies and others.

Cardinal Gibbons officiated.

Cardinal Gibbons officiated at the high pontifical mass, which began at 11 o'clock and was designed to be the most important and imposing of all the functions of the three days' program. Cardinals Vannutelli and Logue were seated in the sanctuary, where episcopal thrones, elaborately draped had been arranged on either side. Archbishop Falconio, Archbishop Glennon, who preaches the consecration sermon; Bishop Gabriels of Ogdensburg, Bishop Heaven of Springfield, Mass., Bishop McDonnell of Brooklyn, Bishop Fitzmorris of Erie, Bishop Monaghan of Wilmington, and the many other visiting prelates were seated on either side of the two thrones, while the parish priests occupied seats reserved for them in the body of the church.

After the pontifical mass the clergy proceeded to the Diocesan House in Madison Avenue, where dinner was served. The noted prelates from Europe were guests of honor at this function, and were greeted with eloquent addresses delivered by the venerable Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Falconio, Archbishop Farley and others.
